B2B leader in online fashion

Brandsdistribution.com is the ideal partner for the sale to international resellers and buyers of branded apparel and accessories. Distribution on the web offers important commercial advantages, while the speed and security of delivery are guaranteed by the logistical partnership with DHL

Interview/ Carlo Tafuri, COO Brandsdistribution

A rapid and guaranteed service

Brandsdistribution.com distributes Italian and international fashion brands throughout the world. There are over 17,000 resellers signed up to the site, of which 95% are outside Italy, often in areas where access to branded products was previously very limited. Through the site, users can obtain significant discounts thanks to high purchasing volumes, immediate payment and to the fact that perhaps the products are from the previous year's collection or are from capsule collections specifically developed by brands for sale on the site.
